OVERDUE STEAMER ST. LOUIS SIGHTED

By Associated Press.
New York, Jan. 16.—Word reached this city this evening that the American liner St. Louis from Southampton January 3 for New York was sighted off Nantucket lightship at 6:40 p. m. going dead slow. Signals were made to the south shore lightship but owing to the fact that a heavy gale was blowing they were unintelligible.

Slow rate of speed at which the St. Louis was traveling indicates that unless she should be assisted she will not reach New York until late Saturday night. Appearances indicated that the St. Louis was short of steam power and the signals were thought to imply that trouble with her boilers had been experienced.

MESSENGER BOY IS SAID TO HAVE CAUSED COLLISION

By Associated Press.
Cumberland, Md., Jan. 16.—Through the alleged interference of a messenger boy a wreck was caused on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad east of Cumberland early today in which four employes of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad were killed and three injured.

The killed are:
W. T. SIMMS, engineer.
W. J. MORAN, fireman.
H. D. SNEERINGER, fireman.
JOHN [illegible]TLER, engineer.

Those injured:
P. J. Hendricks, conductor, Baltimore, bruised about the body.
W. [illegible] Christopher, [illegible] Baltimore, bruised.
Mr. [illegible], conductor, Cumberland.

The wreck was due to the displaying of a false signal giving a clear track for east bound passenger train No. 19 which in the next block ahead [illegible] was standing on the track [illegible] caboose and two engines. The passenger train was drawn by two engines and these crashed through the caboose and [illegible] which obstructed the track. [illegible] the train had not attained its full speed and was only moving at the rate of about 8 miles an hour [illegible] the [illegible] passengers [illegible] but the passengers [illegible] did not leave the [illegible]

[illegible] messenger boy [illegible] in the block [illegible] giving him [illegible] signal. The operator had, it is explained, [illegible] set the signal at danger. While his attention was being [illegible] communicating with the [illegible] block station the boy, it is alleged, pulled the lever that gave the [illegible] from the signal that it had [illegible] block ahead and the tower operator was not aware of what was done until the crash came.

Denver, Jan. 16.—A special to the Republican from Gunnison, Colo., says west bound passenger train No. 17 on the Denver & Rio Grande was derailed three miles east of Sargent at 9:20 o'clock this morning, and 30 of the 60 passengers on board were more or less injured, though none fatally. The most seriously hurt are: S. P. Gutschall, Montrose, Colo., head and back cut, internal injuries; Charles [illegible], Chicago, leg injured; [illegible], Kansas City, arm wrenched; [illegible], Assistant Superintendent [illegible] of the D. & R. G. railway, face cut.

The cause of the accident was the breaking of bolts holding a fish plate by a freight car which jumped the track a little earlier. The section crew had been notified and were on the way to repair the track when the wreck occurred. The [illegible] prevented the accident being more serious.

THE EXPENDITURE OF THE CONTINGENT FUND

State Senate Appoints a Committee of Five to Investigate---Oratory Consumed the Time of the House Election Committee---Evidence Relating to Las Animas Contest Was Received.

Special to the Gazette.
Denver, Jan. 16.—The senate today appointed a committee to investigate the expenditure of that portion of the contingent fund appropriated two years ago that was meant to be used in paying the debts contracted by the Thomas administration. The resolution providing for the committee was introduced by Senator Hill and supported by Senator Seldomridge of Colorado Springs. Only two senators, Adams of Conejos, and [illegible], voted against the appointment of the committee. The committee is composed of Senators Hill, Taylor, Lewis, Bush and Owen.

The house election committee listened to arguments in the Arapahoe county contests and also to the introduction of the testimony in the Las Animas cases. The committee is pushing the work as rapidly as possible in order to be ready to report next Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

SENATE PROCEEDINGS

The principal feature of the senate proceedings this afternoon was a discussion over the adoption of the resolution introduced by Senator Hill yesterday which provides that a committee of five senators be appointed to investigate the expenditures of the contingent fund of $2[illegible] of 1901 and 1902, appropriated by the Thirteenth general assembly, a portion of which was for the payment of those certificates of indebtedness issued in Governor Thomas' administration. After the resolution had laid over the necessary 24 hours, Senator Hill today moved its adoption. In making the motion he stated that he did not wish to accuse any official of the past administration of neglect of duty, but much had been said about the misappropriation of a part of this fund by the state auditing board and that he felt a complete investigation of the matter should be made and reported to the senate. He further stated that he had been informed that about $130,000 of this fund had gone to one printing firm and that not one cent had been paid to those persons who had come forward and helped keep up the state institutions in their time of need. Senator Hill maintained that if the constitution prevented the payment of these certificates or indebtedness, the funds especially appropriated for that purpose should not have been used for anything else.

Senator Barela immediately objected to what he termed was the undue haste in taking up this matter. He anticipated that the governor might have some communication to make, and he therefore thought it would be wise for the resolution to go over. Senator Barela also held that the resolution should be a joint resolution instead of a senate resolution and that the committee appointed to investigate should consist of both senators and representatives.

Senator Hill replied briefly, after which Senator Seldomridge supported the resolution, speaking in part as follows:

"Mr. President, I think that this is one thing for which the past administration should be called to account. It is the expenditure of this money by the state auditing board. I voted against funding this appropriation over to the auditing board two years ago and I think events have proved that I was right in the position I took at that time. I went to the governor personally and asked him to veto the bill, as I doubted the advisability of passing such a measure. Now then, I think the Democratic majority of this body owe this to the people who sent them here to have an investigation of this matter, and I am glad that a member of that majority has taken the initiative and introduced the resolution. I hope the resolution will not go over and that the committee will be instructed to pass a bill which provides for the speedy payment of this debt. I do not agree with our present governor that this must be done by a constitutional amendment. I think an appropriation is all that is necessary to make the matter legal."

The vote on the adoption of the resolution was carried and the committee appointed as above stated. The remainder of the session was consumed in the introduction of minor bills, many of which related to the new counties created by the Rush bill and placed them in respective congressional, senatorial and judicial districts.

ELECTION CONTEST

Volumes of oratory floated through in and from the house election contest committee room today. It was the day of summing up and rendering accounts. Attorneys for both sides labored long and hard to convince the members of the election committee that there was and there wasn't sufficient frauds to justify the throwing out of enough precincts in Arapahoe county to unseat the present 1[illegible] Democratic members and seat the hoped-to-be 1[illegible] Republican members. Just how many and which of those volumes of oratory took effect on the committee will not be known until that committee makes its report next Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

Judge Allen, who had not concluded his argument when the committee adjourned last night, concluded the same this morning. He devoted his allotment of time to a comparison of the names registered and the showing of their similarity and the continuous omission of the middle initials.

Attorney Harry Bryant followed the judge and spoke for the Democrats. He held that the motive in the case was to unseat enough of the Democratic members to guarantee a Republican joint majority in order to send a Republican to the United States senate. He did not believe that the election committee would be a party to such a scheme. He held that there had not been an election in Denver in the last 30 years but that there had been illegal votes cast, but he also held that one party was just as much to blame as the other. He cited continuously extracts from the Londoner election contest in proving his claims. He held that the Republicans had not proved more than 2 per cent of the charges they had made. He scored the Republicans for not taking the matter to the courts and punishing the offenders instead of carrying it into the legislature.

Attorney Hodges for the Republicans, interrupted him by stating that the expense was too great, but Bryan stated that the Republicans had already spent $5,000 and that was more than it would have cost had they gone into the courts. He dwelt at length upon the charges of fraud in F. and H. and held that the persons who had made them had their minds inflamed by charges made previous to the election and they visited the precincts on election day looking for fraud. He held that nothing had been shown to warrant the disfranchising of the voters of the county.

Attorney O'Donnell made the closing address for the Democrats. In opening he quoted from Edmund Burke: "I have not been able to draw an indictment against a whole people." "But," said O'Donnell, "what Edmund Burke could not do, my friends, these Republicans have done. They have indicted a whole people." Continuing, he said: "Robert Burns once wrote: 'Some books are lies from end to end,' and did the prophet Burns have in mind this book," and Mr. O'Donnell took up the Republicans' allegation of fraud which was a typewritten volume of some 700 pages. Continuing, he said: "And again Burns said, 'There are some great lies that are not yet printed,'" and O'Donnell gave a significant glance at the volume of charges and jokingly said: "Did Burns again look into the future and see these Republican attorneys, Hodges, Allen and Ward?" Mr. O'Donnell then referred to the large expenditure of money by the Republicans in this contest and held that the entire matter was for the purpose of electing Edward O. Wolcott to the United States senate. At times Mr. O'Donnell grew eloquent and the stuffy room was crowded to suffocation. He read articles from a number of the leading newspapers and held that the committee must not decide the case on partisan demands. He closed his argument just at the noon hour.

Attorney Ward closed the argument for the Republicans in a well arranged, logical two-and-one half hour speech in the afternoon. He took the testimony of each witness and from it drew the conclusion that the votes in every one of the precincts named should be thrown out because it had been proved that fraud had been practiced. He said that the reasons the Republicans did not go into the courts was because it was impossible with the present courts and the present Democratic machine of this county to convict any man on a charge of election fraud. He stated that he had tried it and knew what he was talking about. He reviewed the testimony of Attorneys Costigan and others who had been sent to the district registrations and who had been thrown out and he held that the Democrats in charge had thrown them out because they wanted to register fraudulent votes. He severely scored the Democratic leaders and charged them with having participated in the casting of the fraudulent vote. He held that a young Republican who was not allowed to act as a judge in one of the precincts was properly registered [illegible] days after the time of the [illegible] for proper registration had closed but that on election morning he was registered in another precinct. Mr. Ward claimed that the officials should know who made this false charge. He dwelt at length upon the fact that the Democrats had not introduced the affidavits of a single judge or clerk in the precincts to offset the testimony against them. He reviewed the evidence showing the manner in which the Republican judges were excluded, even to the setting of the clock one hour too fast in order to make them late in arriving at the polls. At one time after having related a number of instances in which he claimed fraudulent ballot after ballot had been cast, he turned to Mr. Belford, one of those of the election committee whose seat is being contested, and said: "That accounts for your majority, Mr. Belford."

Mr. Belford took exceptions to the remark and severely criticised Mr. Ward for being personal. Mr. Belford said that Mr. Ward was continually throwing up the fact that he (Belford) was on the election committee when Mr. Ward knew that there was not a Democrat in the house whose seat was not contested, to which Ward replied: "I always object to the man who receives the stolen goods sitting on the jury in the trial of the fellow who stole the goods." Mr. Belford jumped up and started to reply when Chairman Breckenridge told the men to desist. Belford submitted and sat down, but said: "I will attend to that and to you, sir, on the floor of the house when the report of this committee is being considered."

After the Arapahoe county contests had been considered the [illegible] took up the Las Animas county contest and evidence from both sides was received.

The senate election committee is still waiting for the return of the deputy sergeant-at-arms of the senate who was sent after ballot boxes and other evidence in the contests in the senate.

The house held a short session this afternoon and adjourned until Monday morning at 10 o'clock. The members of the assembly have been invited to go to Boulder tomorrow and witness the laying of the cornerstone of the library building in connection with the State university.

The Democratic senators met this afternoon in caucus and reaffirmed their action taken yesterday to expel one Republican senator for every Democratic representative expelled. The Republican senators also met in caucus and decided to do everything in their power to prevent being expelled.

The elections committee on contests continued in session in the house committee room tonight and listened to evidence in the case of G. B. Hillyer against J. B. Traxler, the float representative from Las Animas, Baca and Prowers. Traxler, a Democratic representative, was elected by one vote. The Republicans' claims are that six votes were cast for him in one precinct after the polls closed and in another he was given credit with three votes that should have been credited to Hillyer.

Special to the Gazette.
Denver, Jan. 16.—The Wolcottites have [illegible] to use every means in their power to unseat the Arapahoe delegation whether the evidence justifies it or not. Tonight Representative [illegible], the acknowledged leader of the 17 house Wolcottites, served notice on Chairman Breckenridge of the house elections committee [illegible] that committee reported in favor of arbitrarily unseating all of the 1[illegible] Democratic members from Arapahoe county and unless the committee [illegible] that the vote on unseating [illegible] shall be taken as a unit [illegible] on each man separately, the Wolcottites would not vote to seat a single Republican. LIVE STOCK MEN TO FIGHT THE PACKING HOUSE MERGER

By Associated Press.
Kansas City, Jan. 16.—The sixth annual convention of the National Live Stock association adjourned this afternoon to meet next year at Fort [illegible], after electing all the officers for the ensuing year and taking the initiative in a vigorous campaign of legislation against the [illegible] packing house merger.

William M. Springer, general counsel of the association, in a [illegible] outlined a bill which he had formulated [illegible] unlawful restraints and monopolies, and which he said was merely [illegible] the Sherman anti-trust law and the [illegible] bill now pending [illegible] in the discussion that followed, [illegible] John W. Springer said that a bill along the lines suggested by Judge Springer would be printed within a week by the association and sent to every legislature in the land. In further discussing the subject, President Springer said that if the proposed merger was ever consummated the National Live Stock association would string packing houses from Chicago to San Francisco.

In response to an appeal from the legislative committee for a legislative fund $7,500 was subscribed in less than [illegible] minutes.

A resolution introduced by Frank M. Stewart of South Dakota protesting against the packing merger was adopted. It says:

"While we fully appreciate the [illegible] of the men who have risked such enormous capital in the building up of the packing industries [illegible] their capital from any [illegible] reasonable competition which might prove disastrous to all, we [illegible] that the plan proposed [illegible] [illegible] greed and [illegible]"

[illegible] OF THE ARMY CONTRACT FRAUDS [illegible] YEARS AGO

By Associated Press.
Washington, Jan. 16.—The house devoted the day to private bills, passing about 20.

The two features of the day were the [illegible] of a claim of L. F. Moody & Co. of Keokuk [illegible] the payment of the amount due them [illegible] for furnishing equipment [illegible] of the [illegible] which unearthed the army contract frauds in St. Louis in 1862 [illegible] the majority against a [illegible] southern claims aggregating $40,000 for stores and supplies taken by the union army during the civil war [illegible] findings of the court [illegible]

An interesting [illegible] in connection with the bill [illegible] appropriate $8,446 to pay the [illegible] Moody & Co. of Keokuk [illegible] balance due under [illegible] contract for the payment of the [illegible] during the civil war and some sensational chapters in the history of the alleged army contract frauds in St. Louis were exploited. Mr. Smith (Iowa) was in charge of the bill. The original amount of the claim exceeded $40,000, but it was scaled down by the committee to $8,446. Mr. Smith contended that the claim was just, the contract having been executed under the authority of General John C. Fremont through his agent, General Cyrus Bussey. Mr. Hedge of Iowa, Mr. Smith's colleague, denounced the claim with a vigor which attracted attention of the entire house. He impeached it first on the ground that it had been allowed to slumber for 30 years without being presented to congress and then proceeded to point out that its origin in the action of the famous commission consisting of David Davis, Hugh Campbell and Joseph Holt, which unearthed the alleged frauds in General Fremont's department of St. Louis in 1862. He declared that the commission had scaled millions upon millions of army contracts, one of which was that of Moody & Co., and that General Fremont had been superseded because of the intolerable conditions that were found to exist. The report of that committee, said he, was never printed because Lincoln believed that its revelations would make the people despair.

"I have that record here," said Mr. Smith, raising aloft a package of papers musty and yellow with age. "But it was never printed," insisted Mr. Hedge.

"It would not have been advisable to print it."

He then called on Mr. Hitt, chairman of the committee on foreign affairs, who had been [illegible] at his [illegible] Mr. Hitt had [illegible] stenographer [illegible] St. Louis [illegible] Mr. Hedge saying that the [illegible] Mr. Smith had [illegible] his own hand [illegible] of the gigantic frauls [illegible] investigation [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] member of the firm of Moody & Co.

LAST LAND GRANT CASE

By Associated Press.
Washington, Jan. 16.—The last case on the docket of the United States supreme court affecting a land grant tried by the court of private land claims was under argument in that court today. The case is that of Maxime Zeno vs. the United States and it involved [illegible] acres of land in New Mexico on which are located the famous turquois mines of that territory. The case was argued for the government by Special Attorney [illegible] Reynolds and for Mr. Zeno by [illegible] Delaney. Mr. Reynolds, who has had charge of the government interests since the creation of the court in 1891, says that cases affecting 2[illegible] grants and involving 34,000,000 acres of land have been tried and that all of these except 2,000,000 acres has been saved to the government.

DISBROW ACQUITTED

By Associated Press.
Riverside, L. I., Jan. 16.—Louis A. Disbrow was acquitted today of the charge of killing Clarence Foster at Good Ground on the night of June 9. The verdict was reached by the jury after a brief deliberation. The case of the prosecution throughout was weak, the strongest point made against the accused being that he was the last person seen with Foster and Miss Lawrence on the night of the tragedy. The contention of the defense was that Foster and the girl committed suicide.

SENATE COMMITTEE ACTION ON CUBAN RECIPROCITY

By Associated Press

Washington, Jan 15.—The senate committee on foreign relations today agreed to report the Cuban reciprocity treaty to the senate with two amendments. The first of these is the guarantee against a further reduction of the sugar tariff which was adopted yesterday and the other makes a reduction of 40 per cent in the duty on American cattle exported to Cuba instead of 20 per cent as provided in the treaty as it was originally transmitted to the senate. Senators Bacon and Bailey cast their votes against the resolution for a favorable report, but all the other votes were in the affirmative.

Article 8 of the treaty as amended by the committee reads as follows:

The rates of duty herein granted by the United States to the republic of Cuba are and shall continue during the term of this convention preferential in respect to all like imports from other countries and in return for said preferential rates of duty granted to the republic of the United States it is agreed that the concessions herein granted on the part of the republic of Cuba to the products of the United States shall likewise be and shall continue during the term of this convention, preferential in respect to like imports from other countries. Provided that while this convention is in force no sugar being the product of the soil or the industry of the republic of Cuba shall be exported from said republic to the United States at a greater reduction of duty than 20 per cent below the rates prescribed by the act of July 24 1897 and provided further that while this convention is in force no sugar shall be imported into the United States from any foreign country at a lower rate of duty than that imposed by the act of July 24 1897.

Several other amendments were suggested by Senator Bacon but all of them were voted down. Among the suggestions which met this adverse fate was the provision requiring that the treaty should be submitted to the house as well as the senate for ratification which Senator Bacon suggested yesterday. The same fate befell the amendment eliminating article 6 of the treaty providing that no rebate or concession should be given on American tobacco imported into Cuba. A number of articles in addition to cattle were suggested as properly belonging to schedule C which grants a tariff reduction of 40 per cent on American articles going into Cuba. One of these was turpentine but this went down with the others.

The amendment transferring cattle to the 40 per cent list was accepted because of some recent changes in the Cuban tariff which led the committee to the conclusion that the change would be equitable.

The Republican members of the committee voted solidly for the resolution to report the treaty and Senator Morgan Democrat voted with them. Senator Money was absent and Senator Rawlins refrained from voting.

Later in the day in the executive session of the senate Senator Cullom reported the treaty as amended by the foreign relations committee and gave notice that he would call it up Monday next and would endeavor to secure action upon it at the earliest possible day. This notice was in accordance with the general understanding among Republican senators. The agreement also includes an understanding to the effect that the statehood bill will not be urged to prevent consideration of the treaty. It is understood that there will be considerable debate on the treaty and some time will elapse before it can be acted upon. A number of the Democratic senators will oppose ratification and the amendments that were voted down in committee will be re-offered. The Democrats however are not solid in their opposition and those who do oppose it are not yet agreed on any general line of attack.

KANSAS STATE INSTITUTIONS ARE VERY SHORT OF COAL

By Associated Press

Topeka, Kan, Jan 1[illegible].—The state insane asylum and the reform school for boys in this city have only half a day's supply of coal left. The railroads have promised to stop appropriating any more coal intended for state institutions however and it is possible that the situation will soon be relieved. Dealers here say the policy of the railroads has been responsible to some extent for the famine. Shipments of anthracite coal in sacks are being made from Topeka to neighboring towns.

New York, Jan 15.—The interstate commerce commission met today to take testimony in regard to the complaint of the Kentucky railroad commission that the interstate commerce law was being violated in Kentucky by the alleged merger of the Louisville & Nashville and the Atlantic Coast Line. The complaint against the Illinois Central was dismissed at the request of Attorney General Pratt of Kentucky. The companies denied all allegations of violating the law and counsel said the books and traffic agreements were open to the public. J P Morgan and others interested would appear if wanted.

President Spencer of the Southern railway identified a copy of the agreement under which the Southern railway, through the Louisville & Nashville, got the stock of the Chicago Indianapolis & Louisville and the document was admitted as evidence. Mr Spencer said the purchase was to benefit the lines running out of Chicago.

Henry Walters chairman of the board of the Atlantic Coast Line company said the company owned a controlling interest in six or more lines operated as the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad company. The directors of the Atlantic Coast Line company were also directors of the Louisville & Nashville. Witness said:

We offered to buy the Louisville & Nashville having heard that Morgan & Co had got control of it, and knowing the bankers could not operate.

The witness and Mr Morgan reached an agreement to buy the 306,000 shares of stock.

We paid said the witness $10,000,000, $35,000,000 bonds and $5,000,000 stock. The $10,000,000 was raised by sale of stock every dollar of which was taken by our own stockholders.

President Elliott of the Atlantic Coast Line and counsel for the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad company testified corroborating Mr Walters' testimony and said:

We bought the controlling stock of the Louisville & Nashville just as you would buy a box of candy. It was wrapped up and delivered to us and we paid $50,000,000 for it. A portion of the shares was controlled by Mr Hawley and Mr Gates and the acceptance of our offer was subject to the approval of Hawley and Gates.

J Pierpont Morgan began his testimony by saying he was the head of his firm and that the firm had 10 or 12 members; he was not sure how many. He had nothing to do with the purchase of the 306,000 shares except to approve the contracts when made. The deal was explained to him by Messrs Perkins and Steele when he returned from Europe last spring. Mr Morgan presumed a conference was held with Mr Gates about Louisville & Nashville sale but he was not present at it. He was never a director of the Southern but his partner Steele was. Mr Morgan could not remember the preliminaries of the Monon purchase though he might have known all about them at the time. A sentence in a circular sent out by Morgan & Co August 27 1902 was mentioned to the witness. It advised stockholders of the Southern to make no change in the management until after the settlement of certain matters pending which might affect the development of their lines.

"We were trying," said Mr Morgan in explanation, "to prevent anyone getting hold of the stock like they got hold of Louisville & Nashville and knocking it into a cocked hat."

Witness considered it important to the Southern to hold together the Louisville & Nashville. The option on the Gates stock was got April 15 and he did not know in August who would buy it.

"Mr Gates had the stock," said Mr Morgan, "and operated a pool which controlled it. No one knew what he was doing. I took the stock away from Gates and put it where it would not hurt the Southern. At the time we sold it we held it for others.

"Let me tell you the story. We found that Mr Gates and his associates had control of the Louisville & Nashville. When Gates came to us we found that he had control of 306,000 shares.

"That gave him control," Mr Morgan added. "The Northern Pacific experience of the year before made us aware of the danger to the Southern stock and so we made arrangements with Gates. I knew the sale to the Atlantic Coast railroad would not be a disturbing factor to the railroads of the south."

Mr Morgan said at one time he came near returning the L & N stock to Gates and the others.

Continuing the witness said his interest in the whole transaction was merely as a banker. He denied that the Southern had anything to do with the purchase or sale of the Louisville & Nashville. His desire was for the maintenance of the general business situation in the south and he deemed it unwise that the stock of the L & N which was for sale should be at the mercy of stock speculating firms.

"Did you recommend the Southern railroad to secure the Louisville & Nashville stock?" asked Commissioner Prouty.

"Why no sir," Mr Morgan said. "They could not hold it. They are parallel and competing lines."

Mr Morgan said he did not believe that any one interest owns as much as [illegible] per cent of the stock of the Southern railroad.

Charles Steele one of Mr Morgan's partners was the next witness. It was Mr Steele who conducted the negotiations by which the Louisville & Nashville stock was secured and later sold to the Atlantic Coast Line company.

Questioned by Mr Young Mr Steele said there was great anxiety about the situation early in April last and it was feared that a corner in Louisville & Nashville stock was planned.

Mr Steele learned that Mr Gates had control of a large amount of the stock and sent for him. Mr Steele said there was a conference and it was thought wise that the road should be in conservative hands. As a result of this conference an agreement was entered into with him and his associates that a certain amount of stock was to be secured and held. Mr Steele said further that J Pierpont Morgan & Co were anxious that no interests inimical to the Southern railroad should control in Louisville & Nashville.

"What profit did J P Morgan make on the transaction?" asked Mr Young.

"It has not been worked out yet," replied Mr Steele with a laugh. "There may be a loss."

Among the witnesses called for tomorrow's session are August Belmont, George F Baker and G W Perkins.

HOUSE PASSED ARMY APPROPRIATION BILL

By Associated Press

Washington, Jan 15.—The house today passed the army appropriation bill and began consideration of the department of commerce bill under a special rule making it a continuing order until disposed of. The opposition to the measure came entirely from the Democratic side and was based chiefly on the ground that the transfer of the bureau of labor to the new department would subordinate that bureau to a department which would represent capitalistic interests. The friends of the bill denied the assumption that the head of the new department would be hostile to labor.

TESTIMONY IN THE COURT MARTIAL OF MAJOR GLENN

By Associated Press

Manila, Jan 15.—Six officers who served in the island of Samar testified today before the court martial which is trying Major Glenn on the charge of unlawfully killing seven prisoners of war in Samar. The witnesses mostly detailed the enemy's acts of barbarity such as burying persons alive, mutilating live and dead persons and torturing and murdering prisoners and natives in sympathy with the Americans.

The defense produced an order of General Lucban directing the use of poison against Americans.

The court admitted as evidence the captured report revealing additional features of the plot which led to the Balangiga massacre. The witnesses agreed that the policy of Brigadier General Jacob H Smith was necessary and that it ended the insurrection in Samar. Captain Smith testified that the friendly natives who were refugees in the mountains in his district petitioned to be allowed to return to the town and promised to support the Americans. Captain Swayne said the witness told General Smith they would die of starvation if left in the mountains and General Smith the witness added said: "Let them die. The sooner they are dead the sooner we shall have peace."

GERMAN CRUISER FIRED AT A VENEZUELA FORT

By Associated Press

Puerto Cabello, Jan 15.—The German cruiser Vineta at sunset last night fired a shell at La Vigia, the fort crowning the hills behind this port. The shell which was fired because men were believed to be in the fort exploded without causing damage.

The people of Puerto Cabello were at a loss last night to understand the action of the German cruiser. Early this morning however Commodore Scheder sent the following communication to the Venezuelan authorities through William H Volkmar acting American consul here:

"Referring to my letter of the 9th inst I have to inform you that I fired a shell yesterday at Fort La Vigia because against my explicit prohibition the presence has been observed there of unauthorized persons. Judging from reports those persons were soldiers."

The statement of the German commodore that there were unauthorized persons in the fort is denied by the authorities here.

ALLEGED COAL COMBINE HOLDS UP OMAHA PRICES

By Associated Press

Omaha, [illegible] the situation today when [illegible] to public the workings of an alleged coal combine. For some time the price of bituminous coal has been advancing, and the supply was thought to have been materially decreased. It develops however that there is plenty of soft coal in the city and sufficient anthracite coal for the immediate needs with a large number of cars arriving daily. What is known as the coal exchange is operated, it is alleged, by the principal dealers through which all retailers agree on selling prices. One dealer who is said to be the only large dealer out of the coal exchange said he had a month's supply with more coming daily and that he was quite sure that most of the dealers had a reasonable supply for present needs. The commercial bodies of the city are taking steps to investigate the coal conditions.

SLIGHT ADVANCE IN THE PRICE OF COAL IN ENGLAND

By Associated Press

London, Jan 15.—Prices in the London coal market have thus far not been affected by the action of congress in providing a rebate of duties on all coal for a year and placing anthracite on the free list, though a better feeling prevails. No further large orders have yet been received from America. The most important houses do not expect large exports of coal to the United States. They believe that Canadian coal will chiefly benefit by the rebate of duties. It is added that nearly all the English coal heretofore sent to America was ordered by speculators, the leading American merchants not being buyers on account of the length of time required to arrange for large shipments from England.

Later in the day it was announced that the price of coal has advanced 1s [illegible] per ton at the pit banks [illegible] review of the [illegible] situation in America.

TILLMAN CONTINUED HIS ARRAIGNMENT OF TRUSTS

By Associated Press

Washington, Jan 1[illegible].—In the senate today Mr Tillman continued his arraignment of trusts and monopolies and again charged that the attorney general was responsible primarily for lack of action against trusts.

The statehood bill was under discussion for a short time, Mr Foraker urging the right of Oklahoma, Arizona and New Mexico to be admitted into the union.

Mr McLaurin (Miss) called attention to charges that the people of Indianola, Miss, had been guilty of threats and intimidation against the postmaster and declared them to be untrue, remarking that his object in bringing the matter to the attention of the senate was in order that this denial might go into the Congressional Record as an answer to those who had made the charge. The senate at [illegible] o'clock adjourned until Monday.

Mr Foraker did not conclude his speech in favor of the omnibus statehood bill. The Indianola (Miss) post office case was brought up by Mr McLaurin (Miss) who read an article in the Washington Post to the effect that the postmaster's resignation was forced by a brutal and lawless mob. In denying that this was the state of the case Mr McLaurin said that the president had treated him with great courtesy but that he was acting on misin[illegible]

By the late Frank Norris was placed on sale yesterday. This is of interest to lovers of late books, as it is about the only new book of importance promised for this month.

"The Pit" is undoubtedly Mr. Norris's greatest novel. It pictures in a masterly way the development of a woman's love and its entanglement with a great wheat speculation.

Owen Wister has this to say of Frank Norris:—"In our generation he had no peer."

Colorado College Basketball Team Went Down to Defeat Before Pueblo

Special to the Gazette

Pueblo, Jan 15.—The Colorado college basketball team from Colorado Springs met defeat tonight at the hands of the local Y. M. C. A. team in a closely fought game, the first of the season between the two organizations. The score of 16 to 8 in favor of Pueblo indicates that a good game was played but the teams were more evenly matched than the list of goals would indicate. The contest was played in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium and was witnessed by a large crowd of spectators. The game was clean throughout and the Colorado Springs boys expressed great pleasure at the treatment they received at the hands of their opponents.

The local team will go to the Springs a week from tonight and play the college team in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium in that city.

Eastern Sporting Journal Gives Gazette Credit for Remarkable Work

The last issue of Sporting Life, published in Philadelphia, gives a recapitulation of the scores of over 750 shooters of the United States who won one or more high averages at the shooting tournaments held in the United States during 1902. A study of the tables shows that John W. Garrett of this city stands with a few others at the very top of the shooting world.

Mr. Garrett made the highest general average on targets at any tournament held in the country where the tournaments lasted three days or more. Fred Gilbert of Spirit Lake, Ia., made the highest average of the year in a tournament lasting two days. Messrs. Garrett, Gilbert and Stannard have the credit of being the only ones to make a perfect score in one day of a tournament. Each at different tournaments broke all the targets shot at in regular program events in one day, Gilbert shooting at 200, Garrett at 175 and Stannard at 110, a percentage for each of 100.

Mr. Garrett made the longest run without a miss during 1902, breaking 236. Gilbert was second with 200, Garrett being also tied with 197.

Also during the year Mr. Garrett made a score of 49[illegible] out of 500. No other shooter equaled this score, the nearest being Fred Gilbert, who broke 4[illegible] out of 500.

Sporting Life has a system of giving credit points to any shooter who wins an average at a tournament lasting a day or more. It can be readily seen that if all shooters attended all the tournaments in the United States a fair and equitable comparison could be made in this way. But if one of the shooters attends but [illegible] and another attends 100, the latter has 10 times the chances to secure credit points. Also if a shooter attends a tournament and fails to make a showing he loses nothing thereby, as that tournament is not counted in the averaging.

Mr. Gilbert was high man in the United States under this system, but he is a professional representative and does nothing but shoot the whole year. There are a great many other shooters who are similarly employed and devote their entire time to the profession. Mr. Garrett has attended but few tournaments and therefore has not had the opportunity, comparatively speaking, to be high man under the system referred to. Notwithstanding, Mr. Garrett stands very close to the top [illegible] this ratio [illegible] to say nothing of the comparisons being given where he excelled them [illegible]. His shooting at the Grand American handicap at targets which takes place in Kansas City in April will be watched with considerable interest.

Congalton Is Engaged to Coach College Ball Team

W. Congalton, the Millionaire right fielder, will coach this year's college baseball team. The conference between the player and the members of the Colorado College Athletic association committee held yesterday afternoon in the office of the Colorado Springs Baseball club terminated satisfactorily and the negotiations were closed. Congalton will do no work until the latter part of next month, at least not until the weather is more favorable for practicing. Congalton will work with the team next month during March and part of April.

If the present plans of the Athletic association are carried out, the college will play a majority of their games in the Interscholastic league in April and in that way Congalton's working with the team will in no way interfere with his playing with the Millionaires. It is not known upon what terms Congalton accepted the position of coach for the team but it is understood that the arrangements as completed were very satisfactory to both sides.

The announcement is only a leader to other promising ones that are to be made from now on. The college has a good baseball squad from which it may select a nine this year and prospects for a championship team are very bright.

McClemmens Makes High Total in Second Bowling Tournament

The first series of games in the second scratch tournament for the Antlers silver loving cup was played last night at the Antlers alleys. While the bowling on the opening night was nothing phenomenal considerable rivalry prevailed and the contest promises to grow considerably warmer before the final game is played. The highest total was made by McClemmens, who bowled a total of 719 pins in the four games of the first series. J. M. P. Taylor was a close second for high, however, and now has 716 pins opposite his name. Dr. De Berry in his last game bowled 205, the high score of the evening for a single game, and pulled himself out of the bottom of the bunch up towards the middle of the 17 contestants. The list of entries for the tournament was somewhat disappointing for Manager Albert, as he anticipated a large number of bowlers taking part in the tournament from the interest that was shown previous to the announcement of the opening game. In the last tournament there were 24 pin knockers entered for the honors and yesterday there were 20 names on the entry list, but all did not show up for the games last night. The number of players will have to remain at 15 during the remainder of the games, however, as no more will be allowed to enter.

The tournament, as has been stated before, is for the Antlers silver loving cup. This cup was offered by the management of the hotel last season and contested for in a similar tournament during the months of August and September last. Dr. W. J. Oakey, who is now in the east, proved to be the winner after an exciting finish. It is a rule of the contest, however, that a bowler will have to win the cup twice in order to become the permanent owner of it and as Dr. Oakey is not entered in the present tournament there is an excellent show for it to fall into other hands unless he enters in the next series of games and captures it then. The highest total of pins to be made by any contestant in the 20 games that are to constitute the tournament will determine the winner of the tournament and the temporary holder of the cup.

The following dates have been arranged for the remaining 16 games: January [illegible], a week from last night, January 29, February 5 and February 1[illegible].

A fair sized crowd was present last night to witness the games.

The games were bowled with brand new Brunswick pins and some of the low scores may be accounted for from this fact. Following is the complete list of scores made:

Sporting Notes

The meeting of the athletic committee of the Y. M. C. A. which was to have been held yesterday for the purpose of deciding on apparatus for the new gymnasium has been postponed [illegible] next week.

The coyote chase that was to have been held yesterday morning was postponed and will be held from the Kenyon stables this morning. A number of coursers under the leadership of Mr. Nicoll will ride out to the pastures north of the city in hope of starting a coyote or two. The party will leave the stables about half past eight.

A committee to be known as the graduate advisory committee on track athletics in Yale university has just been created by the members of the Yale track team of 1900. The object of the institution of the committee is to insure a more definite and consistent policy in the management of track athletics. This committee consists of Charles H. Sherrill, captain of the Yale 1889 team, and Thomas R. Fisher, captain of the 1880 team.

William D. Wright, a former well-known and popular East Denver high school student, has been elected manager of the State university football team for the coming season. Mr. Wright is now a student in the junior class of the law school at Boulder and expects to graduate next year. The position of manager of the football team this year is very important, as in addition to the usual number of games the team will make a trip east to meet the Nebraska university and probably some other team. The position requires a man of great tact and executive ability, and the friends of Mr. Wright are confident that the university authorities have made a wise selection.

Timothy Flood, the Denver player, has received notice from President Hanlon of the Brooklyn baseball league team that he had been selected to captain the Brooklyns during the coming season. Mr. Flood has been negotiating with the St. Joseph management for the captaincy of that team in the Western league but will accept the Brooklyn offer. In his letter Mr. Hanlon instructs Mr. Flood to go to Augusta, Ga., and meet the men there. The promotion was a great surprise to the Denver man, whose batting last year had been so poor that he had feared he might not be welcome in the Hanlon camp.

An interesting experiment in horse breeding is about to be begun by T. C. Jefferson, successful breeder and developer of horses at Lexington, Ky. Mr. Jefferson is said to have conceived the idea of leasing a grass farm in the Colorado mountains at the greatest altitude in which horses are known to thrive, and has made all necessary plans to send there several of the choicest mares of his establishment with the purpose of having their foals for the coming season born in the high altitude. His idea is that the colts born to the rarefied mountain air may be taken still higher in the first year, and growing to maturity in the thin air naturally will develop greater lung expansion than the ordinary horse is capable of. It is the intention to train them at least two years before taking them to a lower altitude.

Manager Gus Albert of the Antlers alleys yesterday tied the alley record of 278 points held for a long time by Dr. De Berry. The score was made with a strike in the first frame, a spare in the second frame, and nine consecutive strikes, eight pins being bowled with the extra ball after the ninth strike. The score was made on alley No. 2 and with new Brunswick official pins that had just been put on the alleys. A new consignment of pins was received and Mr. Albert decided to try his luck with the above result. Dr. De Berry's score was made last season.

TOMMY RYAN KNOCKS OUT BILLY STIFT IN FOUR ROUNDS

By Associated Press

Kansas City, Jan 1[illegible].—Tommy Ryan, the middleweight champion, knocked out Billy Stift of Chicago in the fourth round of a 10 round bout at the Delaware club tonight. Ryan fought with his usual caution, trying for a knock-out from the start. In the first round he sent Stift down with a right. As he arose Ryan like a flash whipped his right on the jaw, Stift taking the count. Ryan followed with a right to the kidneys and Stift went to his corner in distress. Stift came up strong for the second round, however, and made a fair showing in standing off Ryan's whirlwind rushes. In the third round Stift hugged Ryan to gain time. At the beginning of the fourth Stift was rushed to the floor and rested nine seconds. As he rose Ryan like a flash whipped his right to the jaw, putting Stift down and out.

SAN FRANCISCO FIGHTER WAS SERIOUSLY INJURED

By Associated Press

San Francisco, Jan 15.—Frank McConnell, a local pugilist, lies in a dying condition at the receiving hospital as the result of injuries received in a fight with Spider Welch at Mechanics pavilion tonight. It was a fierce battle and in the 14th round McConnell was all but out when Welch braced himself to give the finishing blow. He dealt the already beaten man a heavy blow on the chin and McConnell went down like a log, his head striking the floor with much force. The usual efforts were made to restore him without avail, and the police, noting the dangerous condition of the unconscious fighter, placed Welch and his seconds under arrest. McConnell was taken to the hospital where the surgeons said he was suffering from concussion of the brain and probable fracture of the skull. His condition is precarious. McConnell is about 22 years old and a resident of this city. He graduated from the amateur ranks of pugilism a year ago. Welch is also a local product.

What was to have been the main event of the evening did not take place. Harry Forbes of Chicago and Frank Neil of San Francisco were scheduled for 20 rounds for the bantamweight championship. [illegible] this afternoon took such a peculiar shade that the club management declared all bets off. Then came the announcement that Harry Forbes was too ill to appear and the statement was supported by a physician's certificate. It was decided to substitute Clarence Forbes, Harry's brother, and Neil consented to the change. They fought a fierce, stubborn battle for [illegible] rounds with many indications pointing to Forbes as the winner. In the middle of the seventh, however, Forbes left an opening that gave Neil the opportunity to land a knock-out blow.

CHAMPION JIM CAN TELL ALL ABOUT MUNROE BOUT

By Associated Press

Salt Lake, Jan 1[illegible].—The Herald tomorrow will print a signed statement from Champion James J. Jeffries concerning his recent bout with Jack Munroe at Butte, Mont. Jeffries claims that Munroe not only did not knock him down but during the entire four rounds did not land a clean punch. Jeffries claims to have been deliberately jobbed out of the fight, as the third round, in which he sent Munroe to the mat for an eight count, was cut short fully a minute.

"I made no attempt whatever to land on Munroe for the first two rounds," says Jeffries, "as I saw he knew absolutely nothing about the game. In the fourth round I could not get at him as he repeatedly clinched or fell to the floor and in this manner he managed to stay the limit. The reports that he knocked me down are absolutely untrue and nobody knows this better than Munroe himself."

PARTY CAUCUSES AND PLEDGES TO THE PEOPLE

PARTY LOYALTY is necessary to the conduct of political affairs.

But the supreme object of politics is the welfare of the people, and party is only a means to an end.

Party loyalty should never be made the excuse for betraying the honor or violating the confidence or injuring the welfare of the people.

That party only can secure a permanent indorsement from the people that sincerely and honestly devotes itself to the public good.

A genuine devotion to the public interest is the only really sound political policy.

Party loyalty and fidelity to the people's interests are one and the same thing, and any other view of the matter is false and unwarranted.

At the present time an effort is being made to influence the Republican members of the state legislature to the belief that solemn and direct pledges made to the people may be safely and properly violated, provided that the sanction of a party caucus be obtained for such acts of infamy and dishonor.

Republicans who have assured their constituents that "under no circumstances" would they vote for or support the candidacy of Edward O. Wolcott for the United States senate, or enter any caucus in which his name might be presented for that office are now being urged to enter a caucus and to pledge themselves to abide by its results without regard to the methods by which the caucus decision may be secured, and without regard to their personal honor or the wishes of their constituents.

To put the matter more plainly, if Boss Wolcott and his Gang can beg, buy, trick, threaten, bully or influence a majority of the Republican members of the lower house to his support, then, it is asserted, the minority, whatever their numbers, should accept this dictation, should obey the commands of the Boss and the Gang, and should send Wolcott to the senate, even though they know that such a result would involve the ruin of the Republican party in this state for years to come.

In such a case as this it is not a question of an orderly and a reasonable discussion of a question of party policy, and a consequent determination of what is best for the party and the state, in which matter the minority may properly and ought to yield to the opinion of the majority.

This is a case in which are, on one side, seventeen men who have solemnly pledged their constituents, their associates and themselves that they will not do a certain thing. These pledges are open and a matter of record. To these pledges they owe their own election, and the success of their party's ticket in state and congressional campaigns. Every consideration of personal and political honor and honesty demands that those pledges shall be scrupulously maintained.

And on the other side there is a Boss, whose presence and candidacy under these conditions is an insult to political decency and an outrage upon personal honor, and a Gang whose past record is one of notorious political corruption and treachery, and this Boss and this Gang have the effrontery to demand that the action and decision of these seventeen honorable men shall depend upon the ability of that Gang, by Gang methods, to obtain a majority of the Republican caucus of the lower house!

When the seventeen anti-Gang Republicans organized the house, with the help of honest Democrats, they made it absolutely certain that Boss Wolcott would not go back to the senate, and there is no chance that this decision will be reversed.

But the Gang is persistent and resourceful.

What it cannot gain by open methods it naturally seeks by subterfuge and indirection.

These methods are more cowardly, but they are not less dangerous.

The purpose and end of them is the same and it is the result, not the methods by which it is obtained, that will be judged by the people.

No excuse of a caucus, no mistake of opinion manufactured by Gang agents and Boss hirelings for genuine public sentiment, no apology of any kind, will be accepted by a watchful people in place of the honest performance of plain pledges.

And the seventeen men who are acting honorably and sincerely in the effort to discharge their plain obligations to their constituents and the state need to be extremely careful lest by indirection and secret methods they may be led into doing something from which they would shrink if it were presented to them openly.

The Gang is past master of all the dishonorable and secret methods that are characteristic of machine politics. It is by these methods that it has intended to secure the control of the Republican caucus, in order to whip honest and honorable men into its line against their will, and it is by such methods that it is endeavoring to influence individual members of the legislature to remain under its control and to enter its company.

Edward O. Wolcott, Henry Brady and Bill Stapleton know all there is to be known in the art of dirty and disreputable politics, and it is a fair prediction from their past record and their present course, that they will leave none of their resources untouched in the effort to secure their own purpose and the defeat of the popular will.

There is only one course for the real Republicans to pursue.

Party loyalty is devotion to the public interests.

The men who are pledged under no circumstances to support or vote for the candidacy of Edward O. Wolcott, should keep their pledges at all times.

And they should not be misled or driven into unseemly or revolutionary proceedings by Mr. Wolcott's subsidized agents.

The Wolcott forces are leaving nothing undone to get those members of the legislature who pledged themselves against him at the election to nullify those pledges by carrying out a program which will insure his election.

All members of the legislature who have outstanding obligations to their constituents on the Wolcott proposition should beware of the advice of any of their pretended friends who are in reality serving Wolcott's purposes, while feigning to be against him.

No excuses will go with the people of the state on behalf of any pledged anti-Wolcott member who directly or indirectly assists in carrying out the Wolcott program to bring about a revolution and a deadlock in the Colorado legislature, and all members should be on their guard against every person who advises them to adopt this portion of the Wolcott plans to disrupt and destroy the Republican party.

If they will do this, they will not only maintain their own honor and serve the public interest, but they will benefit their own party in the highest degree.

NON-PARTISAN WISDOM AND GOOD JUDGMENT.

NO PART of Governor Peabody's inaugural message will meet with more general approval than that in which he refers to the legislation adopted by recent Fusion general assemblies.

Undoubtedly there is much to criticise in these various laws, and some of them undoubtedly deserve the description of "legislative tinkering." But in the period of Fusion control there have been adopted a number of most important statutes and constitutional amendments, involving reforms long demanded by the people, and whatever changes may be made in the details of these measures, the main principle of them will undoubtedly remain as a permanent part of our legislation.

Among the more important of these may be mentioned the general revenue law which takes the place of an ancient and outgrown tax system that had been found to be entirely inadequate to present needs and conditions; the constitutional amendments adopted at the last election, including the eight hour law, the Rush home rule bill, the county officers and elections bill and the amendment changing the qualifications for state citizenship. To the same period belongs the game and fish law, which while admittedly imperfect, is an advance upon all its predecessors.

All of these laws, with others that might be mentioned, were adopted by Fusion legislatures, but they were adopted in response to a very general, non-partisan public sentiment, and the Republicans of the state, both in the legislature and out of it, facilitated and did not oppose their enactment.

Now as Governor Peabody justly says in his message, it is natural to suppose that after such a period of legislative activity, there ought to be a time of legislative quiet. These new laws which are of a most important character and have far reaching effects upon the entire body of our legislation and the general affairs of the state, need time to settle themselves to a perfect adjustment. The courts must pass upon their constitutionality, and interpret their provisions. The people must become familiar with their details and judge them by the test of actual experience. From time to time changes or additions may be wisely enacted, but there ought not to be at the present any widespread or radical amendment of them merely upon the theory that the present assembly for partisan or other reasons, is better qualified to frame these laws than the former ones.

Neither does the wise message of Governor Peabody shut out the enactment of other measures that are necessary to the public welfare, some of which have already been introduced in the upper house of the present assembly.

It is an unfortunate feature of government by parties that partisanship is extended to so many things in which it justly has no place. Legislation should at all times be judged by its value to the people, and not at all by the political alignment of its authors. We are glad to see that Governor Peabody is free from this excessive partisanship, and in demanding a fair trial for the important legislation enacted by the Fusion assemblies, he is unquestionably voicing the sentiments of the great majority of the people of this state.

The Agricultural Yearly Production.

Agriculture is now so pre-eminent in Colorado that it can no longer be eclipsed by the glamor of the mining industry. Certain classes of people have in vain exploited the theory that the mines contained our only real source of wealth but each year as the farms are more intensively cultivated and the young fruit trees come into heavy bearing, their arguments fall flat in the face of actual facts. The season proved one of great drouth in most sections, but nevertheless the state as a whole, yielded little less than full crops. The commonwealth is so vast with its varying altitudes, its valley sand parks, that the total productions of the farms and ranches are almost inconceivable. The farming population of the state was greatly augmented and many new farms and homesteads were established. Field and Farm has each year expended much effort in securing the true facts concerning the output of the farms and ranches, and we hold to the theory that it is to our permanent advantage neither to exaggerate nor belittle the actual returns. We are enabled at this time to present the following tabulation of the production for 1902:

Alfalfa, hay and seed	$ 9,588,650
Wheat consumed at home and exported	4,856,730
Potatoes, spuds and sweets	5,235,000
Corn, sorghum, kaffir, etc	870,960
Oats sold and still on hand	950,320
Melons and cantaloups	452,336
Barley and rye	783,158
Orchard and small fruits	6,951,500
Nursery stock raised and sold	220,000
Cut flowers, bulbs and plants	276,500
Native hay and timothy	4,112,000
Garden truck, including greenhouse output	4,168,000
Sugar beets and other root crops	2,460,000
Sugar manufactured	2,960,000
Canned goods, pickles and condiments	1,130,465
Cattle shipped out	4,073,340
Cattle consumed and increase	3,230,000
Sheep raised and sold	1,207,800
Lambs fattened and sold	2,236,000
Wool output, sold and held in storage	1,247,350
Poultry and eggs	1,608,000
Swine, increase and pork sold	1,830,000
Horses, mules and jacks	2,576,700
Dairy products and increase	6,920,000
Bees and honey	316,700
Total	$70,261,503

The most notable increase is that pertaining to the sugar beet crop which is making rapid strides in our agricultural economy. It has several features which appeal to a community as being most desirable. The money expended in manufacturing sugar is distributed to the farmers who grow the beets, to the miners who take out the coal and limerock, to the mechanics, engineers and other laborers in the factory throughout several months. It then passes through such hands to the grocers, butchers and other storekeepers, thus circulating through legitimate business channels. It also means the increase of farm values because of certain profit. Fruit production is increasing steadily as the trees become older and the near future will see great necessity for meeting the labor problem in harvesting the crops. Cattle values have been lower in price while sheep and swine held their own. Dairy products made some increase in amounts produced, while prices were greatly augmented. The question of water storage will be gradually solved to circumvent possible drouths of future years. The prospects are now bright for heavy deposits of snow in the mountains which augur well for bountiful harvests next year.—(The Denver Field and Farm.

Three Hundred Years Since Hendrik Hudson.

Some of the neighbors begin to talk about the approach of the three-hundredth anniversary of the discovery of the Hudson river, and to wonder by what sort of high jinks it will be celebrated. It is six years off yet, Hendrik Hudson came in 1609, and rather late in the season. A world's fair is spoken of as a suitable effort to mark a date so notable, but another world's fair is hardly likely to be planned until St. Louis has finished with hers. Ten years is not too long a time to come between fairs of the first magnitude in this country. Moreover, the Hudson celebration would doubtless come to New York, and New York is ill-off for fair grounds, and will probably prefer something less laborious and protracted, and, if possible, more amusing. Six years will do a good deal to make New York commodious and comfortable, provided its population does not outrun its struggles to take care of it. The Holland society has undertaken to make suggestions about the Hudson celebration, and its plans will doubtless be influenced by its forecast of the state of development that the town will have reached in the year in which the plans are to be carried out. Possibly the Erie canal will be reconstructed and enlarged before 1909, and the Hudson joined by an adequate waterway to the great lakes. That would best mark the anniversary. Give us the enlarged canal as the chief monument, and we will take out the rest of the celebration in fireworks and river pageants.—(Harper's Weekly.

Bishop Brent's Social Settlement.

Among the many agencies which have been suggested for the betterment and elevation of the Filipino, few would seem to commend themselves more than the institution which has just been started by Bishop Brent. While differences of opinion exist as to the advisability of proselyting and spreading religious instruction among the natives at this time, yet it would seem that no hint of objection can be raised to such a movement as the Social settlement.

During a recent conversation with General Bell, that officer stated that one of the great stumbling blocks in our efforts to promote the welfare of these people and prove to them not only the goodness but also the cordial sincerity of our intentions, is the lack of harmony which exists between us socially. We are in, but not of, the Philippines. And so long as we give these people only the precepts and principles of our civilization, and not of its life—that is, so long as we meet them only on matters of business and do not mingle with them on other than formal occasions—a true spirit of harmony and a community of interest can never exist.

The social settlement, as we understand it, will endeavor to inculcate in the lower class of Filipinos not only the externals and outward expressions of our civilization, but also its real and inherent characteristics. As our news columns put it: "A group of people who will live among people of different and inferior class and share their hardships with them, will be taken into the home, the object being the social, mental and moral elevation of the less favored element." That such a mission must prove most helpful and productive of practical and paying results would seem to need no assertion.

Among the detailed features of the scheme, one which appears to us most commendable is the provision of a dispensary for free treatment of the poor. In some measure this feature anticipates a plea which we had intended making for institutions of this kind in Manila. Just recently, a case came to our notice where a Filipino boy had suffered for one whole year from an injury to the eye which impaired the sight and rendered him unable to work. When asked why he did not seek medical treatment the characteristic reply was made: "Mucho pobre." The American who interested himself in the case had the boy taken to the Civil hospital. It was there stated that while the hospital was not intended for such cases, yet patients who were poor and deserving and could not be treated elsewhere, were never turned away. The only hospital, it seems, where free dispensary treatment such as we know it in the states is given, is the San Juan de Dios: but even its service is not generally made use of by poor Filipinos.

What would seem to be needed is a number of dispensaries scattered throughout the city and maintained at the city's expense—places where, during certain hours of the day, poor natives who require medical attention can be treated. It is safe to say that there are hundreds of needy Filipinos in Manila today who are suffering from injuries and ailments who would gladly avail themselves of the services placed at their disposal by such dispensaries.—(Manila Times.

[illegible] GAS [illegible] FROM THE CITY

Colorado Springs Man Thinks He Has Made an Important Discovery and Wants to Interest Others for Benefit of the City.

That there is natural gas within 10 or 15 miles of Colorado Springs is the confident belief of a gentleman now resident in this city who is thoroughly familiar with natural gas conditions elsewhere and who has made a study of the geology of oil and gas bearing formation. He asserts positively that oil will not be encountered at the Portland mill north of the city owing to the lack of the correct conditions. This gentleman asserts that the anticlinal in which has its beginning at or near the Garden of the Gods reaches an apex at a distance of some 10 or 15 miles east of this city and at that apex gas will be found. He says it will cost $10,000 to bring an expert here and sink the necessary experimental wells and prove the correctness of his theory. He offers to be one of the 100 persons each to donate $100 towards the carrying out of this experimental work the city of Colorado Springs to be the gainer by becoming the owner of the gas discovered. The gentleman has made an exhaustive study of the geology of this region and from his familiarity with gas bearing belts in other sections he is positive in his assertions that gas will be found in large quantities. He pronounces the Florence field a freak in oil bearing territory and condemns other sections of the state in which prospecting is in progress.

He gave out this information regarding the matter upon reading the editorial in Thursday morning's Gazette upon "The Future of Colorado Springs." That editorial called attention to the need of every citizen's taking hold to help along the interests of the city. It is in line with this policy that he announces what might almost be termed his discovery and urges public spirited citizens to contribute towards the expense of carrying on the necessary experiments. He proposes in case gas in sufficient quantities for domestic and manufacturing purposes is found that the city control the field and supply the inhabitants and manufactories with the cheapest light and fuel known. He points out that many industries could be induced to locate here if a sufficient supply of natural gas could be guaranteed. He spoke particularly of glass works on account of the sand deposits near Colorado City. Glass making is an industry particularly prosperous in natural gas regions. This information and suggestion is given to the public without the gentleman's intending to reap one dollar's reward for himself he acting as a public spirited citizen.

Literary and Scientific [illegible] by Colorado College Professors

The January number of the Bulletin of the American Mathematical Society contains an article by Professor Florian Cajori on "Series whose Product is Absolutely Convergent." This paper is the last of a series of articles on this subject which Dr. Cajori has published during the past two years. The first of these articles was based on researches of Dr. Alfred Pringsheim of the University of Munich. Dr. Cajori's first article was followed by one from Dr. Pringsheim in which the method of treatment was simplified and the generality of results extended. Dr. Cajori's last papers are extensions of the results previously reached by Dr. Pringsheim and by himself.

At the annual meeting of the Modern Language association held at Johns Hopkins university during the Christmas holidays a [illegible] by Prof. [illegible] Hills was read entitled "A Canadian French Dialect." This article embodies the result of a study of a living dialect and contains a description of the pronunciation inflection and syntax. Prof. Hills' article will be published by the association and will appear in the July number of the Publications.

Volume X of Colorado College Studies will appear in a few weeks. It will contain the following articles:

"The Earliest Life of Milton," by Prof. Edward S. Parsons, reprinted from The English Historical Review, January, 1902.

"La Femme dans les Chansons de Geste," by Prof. Hugh A. Smith. The first part of this paper was published in Vol. IX of the Studies.

"An Interferometer Study [illegible] tions in a Magnetic Field," by Prof. John C. Shedd.

Bachelors' Ball Promises [illegible]

Reports [illegible] that the bachelors' ball to be given on the night of the 22nd at the Temple theater will be just about the swellest affair which has been pulled off here in some moons. The bachelors are a crowd of the jolliest fellows in the Elks lodge and they have gone into the thing in a spirit of fun which augurs well for the success of it. It is said that a theatrical company which will be in the city at that time will appear at the ball in full stage costume.

Everyone who is having anything to do with the affair is provided with a large sized bunch of tickets and they are letting no guilty man escape. Rumor has it that the grand march will be led by the best looking man in Colorado Springs. Just who the lucky lady will be has not yet been divulged but it is stated that it will be the prettiest girl in the city. This should arouse more than ordinary interest considering that there are so many pretty girls here. All the girls at the dance are sure to be pretty anyhow but the lady who will lead the grand march will be the queen of them all. Guesses as to who it will be will be received at Hazlitt's cigar store and to the successful guesser will be awarded a prize consisting of an opportunity to buy a ticket for the dance.

The theater is being decorated in great shape for the event which will be very swell indeed. All of the baches in the city will be out in force and this should give Cupid a chance to get in some very heavy work. If there is any young lady in the city who wants to go to the dance and has no escort she will be quickly provided for if she leaves her name and address at the club rooms. It is said that many of the baches are going to stag it because they are too bashful to ask a girl. However this is mere rumor. Just the same every young lady in the city can go if she wants to.

PROF. HILLS TO LECTURE ON LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE

On Tuesday evening January 20 at 8:15 o'clock in Perkins hall Professor E. C. Hills of the department of modern languages in Colorado college will lecture on "The Spanish Language and Literature." Professor Hills is well known among the scholars of this country.

Harvard college called him two years ago to conduct the summer school for Cubans. His anthology of Cuban poetry "[illegible]" is the first attempt that has been made to collect and adjust the poetry of the new republic so as to make it accessible to American students.

Mr. Hills is especially well fitted to speak on the subject he has selected for his lecture.

On Tuesday evening January 28 Professor Ahlers will give his first of a series of lectures on the Norwegian Dramatist Henrick Ibsen.

The lectures of this course are free to all and the public is cordially invited to attend.

The Year Just Closed
Will Never Be Forgotten
By Those to Whom
Paine's Celery Compound
Gave New Life and Happiness

The year just closed has been a memorable one for Paine's Celery Compound. A multitude of men and women weakened, nervous, rundown and suffering the pains and agonies of disease have had their burdens removed and their feet firmly planted on the solid rock of health.

Stirring political events of the past year, the colossal efforts of trusts and monopolies, the recent miners' strike and other notable events will be quite forgotten in a few weeks or months. Not so with the strength after weakness, the new life after years of suffering, the robust health after wasting disease, the permanent cure after the verdict of incurable pronounced by the physician. These glorious remembrances and blessings and the happy assurance that Paine's Celery Compound makes sick people well will be indelibly graven on the mind as long as life lasts.

The victories of Paine's Celery Compound over disease in the past year are supported by thousands of testimonial letters from the best people of the land. Medical journals have noted the blessed work and physicians have been compelled to indorse the life-saving virtues of earth's best medicine. It matters not, dear reader, how bad your case may be; give Paine's Celery Compound an honest trial and you will surely share the blessings it has bestowed on others.

The building will be two stories high and of white brick with terra cotta trimmings. It has sloping roof of red tile. Fay Marie Gandy, the 6-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Gandy, died yesterday at the family home, 830 North Weber street at 5 o'clock in the morning. It was a particularly sad case as the child had been grievously afflicted for some time. During the past few months death was not wholly unexpected in the Gandy home. The parents had taken the little girl to some of the most eminent specialists in the entire country in the hope of effecting a cure but it was hopeless. The end came quietly and peacefully to the child. Announcement of the time and place of the funeral will be made later.

COUNTY CLERK REED WAS SUMMONED TO APPEAR BEFORE CONTEST COMMITTEE

Was Given an Hour Less Than No Time in Which to Get From Colorado Springs to Denver

Just how to answer a summons requiring him to appear in Denver before the senate committee on privileges and elections in the contest case brought by F. M. Ammons against Arthur Cornforth at 10 o'clock yesterday morning when he did not receive the notification until 11 o'clock was a question which puzzled County Clerk W. H. Reed yesterday. The man who brought the summons missed his train and got in late. The summons ordered the presence of the county clerk before the committee at 10 o'clock but it was clearly a physical impossibility for Mr. Reed to get there at that time. Mr. Ammons who brought the contest was Mr. Cornforth's opponent in the race and resides in Douglas county. Mr. Cornforth received a plurality of [illegible]

The summons reads as follows:

To Clerk W. H. Reed, County Clerk of El Paso County:

By virtue of the statutes in such cases made and provided and under and in pursuance of the authority of the senate of the Fourteenth general assembly you are hereby commanded to personally be and appear before the committee of said senate on privileges and elections at the capitol in Denver on Friday the 16th day of January 1903 at the hour of 10 o'clock a. m. to give testimony in a certain contested election case wherein F. M. Ammons is contestor and Arthur Cornforth is senator from El Paso county is contestee in behalf of the contester and you are further commanded that you bring with you and produce at the said time and place registration books, poll books, ballot boxes and ballots therein of each every and singular voting precinct of said El Paso county being the registration books ballot boxes and ballots used in and the ballots cast in each and every and singular of the said precincts at the regular election held on November 4 1902.

Hereof fail not under penalty of the law and of being in contempt of the senate.

[illegible]
Chairman of Committee.

Late yesterday afternoon Mr. Reed talked with Senator [illegible] by telephone and the senate committee waived that part of the summons relating to the ballot boxes. Mr. Reed will appear before the committee in person at 10 o'clock this morning.

COUNTY HAS INSANE PATIENT ON ITS HANDS

William Williams said to be insane is on El Paso county's hands and the commissioners are wondering what to do with him. Nine years ago he was committed to the state insane asylum from Cripple Creek but some time after all trace of him was lost, the asylum officials made out an order of discharge. Williams recently turned up here and was arrested by the police. Teller county now refuses to take him on the ground that he has lost his residence there. He will doubtless be committed by the local courts. The insane asylum officials do not want him on the ground that he was discharged in a regular manner.

[illegible] ST. PATRICK MINE

Operators Have a Good Showing but Nothing to Justify Sensational Reports of Rich Strike--Good Record of Gray & Co. Leasing on the Monument.

Special to the Gazette

Cripple Creek Jan 16—A report which gained currency and which occasioned considerable excitement last night was that rich ore had been struck on the St. Patrick mine located on South Fourth street in Victor The report proved to be largely unfounded as at the present time nothing has developed to warrant such an announcement regarding this well known property

Manager Gallagher stated today that while the workings showed satisfactory results such rumors as this were entirely unjustified The company has driven a diamond drill some 1,000 feet and in the course has cut three fair veins which have given good assay values and the company now is working to tap the first of these from the 700 foot level Operations on the St Patrick will be watched with great interest by the people of the district as the general belief exists that a big strike will be reported from the mine in the near future and should one occur it would add materially to the prosperity of the camp The St Patrick property is owned by a syndicate of wealthy Scotchmen and Henry Coates the noted thread man of Perth Scotland who is reported to be worth $1,000,000 is at the head of the company

The Gray and Co lease on the Monument is ranking as one of the biggest leases in operation in the district and their record for the past year shows that they have a good thing Early last year the lessees opened up entirely new vein in the 200-foot level The trend of the vein gave them about 50 feet of it within the boundaries of the ground leased From the 300 foot level and the portion of it which has been opened in the level below they maintained a production that enabled the company to pay a dividend of one cent per share and since the payment of that royalties have rolled into the treasury at an astonishing rate The lessees are now doing everything in order to pay another dividend as soon as possible during the present year While the ore is being broken from but one vein and that only averaging about three feet in width the lessees shipped a total of 16 carloads of ore last year each carload containing on an average 20 tons which returned in values of $38 in gold to the ton

The new board of directors of the Old Creek Gold Mining company which was elected on Wednesday last for the ensuing year have unanimously agreed to push a thorough exploitation of the various properties owned by the company and are now preparing to do extensive development work on their claims in this district located a short distance outside of the producing area The company also owns another group of claims a few miles north of Cascade

Lessees [illegible] and company are working on the [illegible] level of the Portia Gold King located on Gold hill During the past week the vein which they have been working on for [illegible] time has widened from two to [illegible] feet and is carrying a little better value than is done

Edward Wilson is working on a claim on the south side of the city of Goldfield He is now at a depth of 60 feet and is receiving assays from $8 to $10 per ton Mr Wilson [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] of [illegible] the Goldfield [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] limits of Goldfield and during the past year [illegible] [illegible] repeatedly that his work was thrown away but during the last week the ground has been looking [illegible] better and from a small vein which he [illegible] a few days ago [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Mining Notes Around Town

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY IS MADE ON PAY CAR GROUP

About a month ago J H Brown the president of the Salida Exploration and Development company discovered the Pay Car group near Salida He was attracted to the property by several things First he noticed an immense eruptive dyke of a porphyritic nature running across the country This dyke is pure white and from 10 to 50 feet wide His attention was also called to float carrying pyrites and native copper Still another indication was in the nature of the country which was above the broken up lava covered region He knew from experience in other camps that there ought to be a zone of mineral in the vicinity After deciding on the location men were put to work and at grass roots ore was found that assayed $7 25 per ton Work was continued by trenching across the zone for 30 feet and in ore all the way Holes sunk in places outside of the width proven by the trench show that the veins or deposit must be 100 feet wide In the center of this area a 10 foot hole was sunk in the bottom of which values of $18 per ton were found A hole at the top of the hill 200 feet above discloses a vein of ore that appears to be rich in gold While this vein is not wide it is in the zone The hill on which this lead was found is very steep and a tunnel started at almost any point would gain depth rapidly On the south there is another lead of fine black honey-combed quartz The group at this point is four claims or 1,200 feet wide and the whole territory is covered with float Copper can be knocked off the ledges almost anywhere and veins of small size carrying iron or seam the hill The Salida Exploration and Development company has decided to start a tunnel at once on the copper vein and very likely a second on the gold vein developing both at the same time A tunnel will probably prove the existence of a vast body of mineral in this territory

IMPORTANT STRIKE ON BONANZA KING PROPERTY

A strike of considerable importance has been made on the south end of the Bonanza King property on Gold hill by H R Reiton the well-known hardware man of this city and the present prospects are about as good as a person could ask for

Mr Reiton has been working on the Bonanza King property some time prospecting around and just the other day at the depth of 75 feet and up the hill about 40 feet he opened a very promising vein that contains a pay streak of 18 inches of smelting grade ore and the samples taken indicate that it will all average $100 or better to the ton in gold

The vein is known as the Murray vein and was opened some years ago by James Murray of this city who shipped something like $9,000 worth of ore from it

The ore occurs in the phonolite lying between a fine grained basalt on one side and porphyry on the other It is very promising looking rock Drifting is now in progress on the vein and ore is being saved for shipment

To prove continuity of ore Mr Reiton has started operation through a shaft 300 feet deep and is drifting to open the vein at that depth, where he figures the ore should be even wider in size and as well if not better in values

Work is being carried forward there by Mr Reiton in a vigorous manner and it is his entention to work just as fast as possible and demonstrate whether or not it extends down below, where he now has it opened up so well

BUTTERFLY-TERRIBLE STRIKE CONFIRMED AT OPHIR

The Ophir Mail published near the mine thus confirms the reported strike on the Butterfly-Terrible. "The Butterfly-Terrible mine is in the lead again for during the past week they cut into a pocket of ore in the lower level that averages from $400 to $800 to the ton While all of the vein is not of this grade, the vein is from four to six feet in width and can be milled at a good profit to the company As an evidence of the strike last week the stock of the company was only 5 cents per share and now it is quoted at 15 cents per share and the price going up The new strike is on the Ida vein one of the properties belonging to the company and they have been working for months to tap this vein as rich gold ore was found on the surface They will have about 200 feet of stoping ground and an unlimited amount of ground ahead of them At present owing to the scarcity of water the mill cannot handle what ore is broken with only two machines The Silver Bell parties are driving a tunnel to cut this vein as they also have an extension on the Ida This rich strike means much for the Ophir district

EASTERN MARKETS

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

Report from Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co, to Otis & Hough.

New York Jan 16—Today's market resembled that of yesterday in many ways. It was strong in spots but generally dull with commission houses doing little. It was thought on the floor that the speculation in Erie and Reading issues was about over.

Southern railway suddenly became active in the afternoon and advanced sharply on buying that was unexplained. C G W preferred 'B' also scored an important advance and rumors were current that some sort of a deal would be announced in a few days that would benefit the issues of this company. London bought about 20,000 shares on balance. Preliminary estimates indicate a heavy gain in cash by the banks and good statement. The foreign exchange market was dull and steady. Money rates were about the same, grain engagements for export were again heavy. Demand sterling, $4.86¾@4.87.

If well-informed observers are correct the downward manipulation of the market is preparatory to a fresh start upward when certain designs of important interests have been accomplished. One of these is said to be the purchase of the Erie railway property, full control of which has not been secured. The other is the rebuying of holdings unloaded on the bulge of 10 days ago. It is a common remark tonight that the market is not in harmony with the very favorable outside situation but it is felt that this phenomenon cannot long prevail and the general outlook warrants the purchase of stocks on all recessions particularly the hard and soft coalers the granger shares and the tractions.

The immediate cause of increased bullish sentiment on the anthracite properties is the prospect that monthly statements to be issued next week, will be so remarkably good as to infuse renewed strength and activity not only into this particular group of stocks but possibly throughout the whole market. The increase of $479,000 in net earnings reported today for December by the Lehigh Valley will give some idea of what is to be expected of the larger anthracite producers when they issue their exhibits for that month. The talk is that Reading will report an increase in net of at least $1,500,000. Jersey Central is expected to show an increase of $1,000,000, the Erie an increase of at least $750,000. These anticipations are responsible for strong but quiet buying of the securities affected.

The grangers are being bought on increased traffic and higher freight rates. The strength of Missouri Pacific is believed to reflect these conditions and also the prospect of a big deal, which will involve all the Gould properties, making economy possible that will add materially to the net income of the new system.

CHICAGO GRAIN & PROVISIONS

Furnished by Otis & Hough, Bankers and Brokers, 127 Pike's Peak Avenue.

Chicago Jan 1[illegible]—Wheat—Liverpool [illegible] at [illegible] higher. Paris [illegible] lower [illegible] higher. Antwerp [illegible] higher. Market here was active and closed firm. The [illegible] table were in our favor. Further news are reported from Argentine and the cash situation was considered bullish. It is not easy to size up the latter but on the whole there seems a good cash [illegible] all around. Minneapolis mills [illegible] [illegible] in active demand for flour [illegible] export and [illegible] are reported [illegible] in the southwest. There is a broad [illegible] [illegible] speculative [illegible] in the market. [illegible] northwest is still bullish but [illegible] [illegible] buying is still the [illegible] feature of the market. He was [illegible] buying [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] selling through brokers [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] reports [illegible] prospects favorable and movement from first hands restricted by lack of cars. Rain is due in California but conditions [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] that quarter.

Estimated cars tomorrow 30

Corn—Liverpool [illegible] lower. Tone of the market here was a little easier. It seemed mainly a natural reaction after several days of strength. Soft weather is predicted throughout the southwest but offerings of corn from the country are only limited by the ability to get cars. There was some talk of a little export cash demand only but the final business for export was large. There was a large selling of May corn through a commission house the last few days which may possibly be for Armour.

Estimated cars tomorrow 3[illegible]

Oats—Market was active. It ruled well after an early weakness but the edge seems to be off the shipping demand a little at the moment and there is some talk of more liberal arrivals next week. In any event there has been a good deal of profit taking at the advance and some reaction is due.

Estimated cars tomorrow 21[illegible]

Provisions—A shade easier. The market opened strong on higher hogs but there were evidences of profit taking to a considerable extent and the improvement was lost. The January pork and lard still act somewhat dejected.

Denver Live Stock

Denver Jan 1[illegible]—Cattle—The bulk of the cattle that arrived since last night are going through so the offerings this morning were nominal. The market was active at the recent decline and about all the stuff on sale found buyers before noon. For the first time this year packers got some carloads of fed Nebraska steers, cows and bulls. The quality was fairly good but not choice. The steers averaged 1,000 pounds and brought $4.30. The cows sold at $3.[illegible] and the bulls at $[illegible] to $[illegible]. The record on bulls this year. The bulk of the cows on the market were from this state and sold at $3.1[illegible]. In the feeder and stocker division the bulk of the offerings were lightweight steers averaging around [illegible]00 pounds and selling at $[illegible]. The best demand is for good heavy steers around 1,000 pounds in weight that can be finished in a short time. Prices did not decline as much on that class of stuff as they did on the rest. There is a good demand for everything and the market is in much better shape here than at any of the markets further east. Some of the buyers who bought some of the best cattle on this market recently and shipped them to the river lost considerable money, prices at the marketing point being about [illegible] cents lower than the purchasing price here.

Hogs—Hogs are selling for more [illegible] on this market than on the river. The top here today was $6.[illegible] and the top at Omaha was $6.5[illegible]. Receipts were more liberal but still short of the demand. The quality of the hogs on the market was fairly good and the bulk sold at $6.[illegible] to $6.70. Shippers should remember that this market can use 10 carloads of hogs daily [illegible].

Sheep—The sheep market was dull as there were no receipts offering. The tone of the market is firm and the demand strong for muttons with [illegible] prices prevailing. There is considerable inquiry for feeder lambs.

How a Boy Explained a Parable

There is no saying how the average small boy sometimes regards religious truth. A London paper records that the son of a well known bishop being asked to explain the meaning of the parable of the grain of mustard seed replied: "It means that a little religion goes a long way and those who have least of it here will be highest in the kingdom of heaven."—Christian's Weekly.

Married Women

Every woman covets a shapely, pretty figure, and many of them deplore the loss of their girlish forms after marriage. The bearing of children is often destructive to the mother's shapeliness. All of this can be avoided, however, by the use of Mother's Friend before baby comes, as this great liniment always prepares the body for the strain upon it, and preserves the symmetry of her form. Mother's Friend overcomes all the danger of child-birth, and carries the expectant mother safely through this critical period without pain. It is woman's greatest blessing. Thousands gratefully tell of the benefit and relief derived from the use of this wonderful remedy. Sold by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle. Our little book, telling all about this liniment will be sent free.

Cripple Creek Jan 16—A meeting of the Lincoln Republican club was called to take place this evening at the city hall About 100 members were present Dr Funk the chairman opened the meeting and after a few minor matters had been brought up Senator McNeely arose and said in a few well chosen words that he would like to introduce the following resolution

"The Lincoln Republican club of Cripple Creek in special meeting assembled feels that because of the part which it took in the election last November which resulted in the restoration of Colorado to the Republican rank it has a right to remind its senators and representatives in the Fourteenth general assembly now in session at Denver that so far as Republican success at the last election was concerned it was due solely to the fact that the voters were given to understand that former Senator Edward O Wolcott would not be a candidate for election to the senate and in proof of this understanding Mr Wolcott remained out of the state throughout the campaign Without him here was a Republican victory with him there must have been defeat Therefore

Resolved That we heartily indorse the work of our state chairman Hon D B Fairley and also Hon F R Stewart in making Republican success a fact We approve most heartily the action of those 17 Republican members of the house of representatives who stand for the election of a Republican United States senator other than Mr Wolcott We respectfully beg leave to remind our Republican representatives and senators from Teller county who favor Mr Wolcott's candidacy that they would not now hold certificates of election had it been known on election day that they would so thwart the will of the people To them we commend part of the platform of the Republican party of Massachusetts adopted in 1892 drawn by Senator Geo F Hoar from which we quote without permission Sympathy with liberal and Republican government at home and abroad Americanism everywhere clean politics pure administration no lobbyists reform of old abuses leadership among loftier paths minds ever open to the sunlight of the morning ever open to new truth and new duty as the new years bring their lessons Further

Resolved That we condemn the conduct of those federal officeholders who for weeks have neglected the duties of their respective offices to lobby for the election of a particular candidate for United States senator and we respectfully ask the proper department at Washington to investigate the action of collectors of internal revenue postmasters and other officers who have taken part in such senatorial contests

As soon as the senator was through reading the above resolutions and had taken his seat Chas Wells a well known Republican of this city offered another resolution as a substitute to the senator's which read as follows

Whereas There seems to be a great deal of dissension among the members of the lower house of the Fourteenth general assembly and

Whereas By what seems to be an unholy alliance between a portion of the members who were elected by Republican votes and the Democratic members the investigation of the election frauds in Arapahoe county is liable to become a prejudged matter and a farce and

Whereas By such alliance our much esteemed fellow townswoman Mrs Anna Brandt who we believe with an honest investigation and canvass of the Arapahoe county votes would be seated as state superintendent of public instruction is in danger of being sacrificed and

Whereas The members of both houses sent from Teller county have shown themselves to be true Republicans and not dirty Democrats therefore be it

Resolved By the members of the Lincoln Republican club of the city of Cripple Creek that we most heartily approve of and commend the action of our members that we have faith in their judgment and that we believe that they will hold out to the last for a Republican and none other for United States senator Be it further

Resolved That the secretary be instructed to furnish each of the Teller county members with a copy of these resolutions and that a copy be furnished to the Republican papers of the state

After Mr Wells had taken his seat several well known members of the club gave their views of the two resolutions Judge Graham seeing that the two sets of resolutions had caused considerable excitement among the members of the club gained the floor and spoke quite at length on the present trouble that was taking place at the state capitol and said that there was no use of the Republicans of this county fighting between themselves over something none of them could change and moved for an adjournment which was taken

It seems that the Wolcott men and antis each intended to have their resolution adopted and it was a case of who should reign supreme in the meeting both sides claiming the majority of the members present

WOMEN OF WOODCRAFT—Don't forget the box social A good time assured.

There was a hurry call for the ambulance of the City Hospital In the course of a few moments a very sick woman was brought in on a stretcher —she was pale as death and evidently suffering keen agony There was a hasty examination and consultation, and in less than a quarter of an hour the poor creature was on the operating table to undergo an operation for ovaritis

The above is an accurate account of an incident which occurred in New York recently the young woman in question had warnings enough of her dangerous condition in the terrible pains and burning sensation low down in her left side, She had no one to advise her, and she suffered torture until it was too late for anything to save her life

Women should remember that if they do not care to tell a doctor their troubles, they should be willing to tell them to a woman, who stands ever ready to advise and help them. Again we state that Mrs. Pinkham's advice is freely and confidentially given to every one who asks for it. Address, Lynn, Mass.

The following letters prove beyond question that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has the power to cure, and does cure thousands of cases of inflammation of the ovaries, womb, and all other derangements of the female organism.

MRS. OTTOSON SAVED FROM A SURGICAL OPERATION.

"DEAR MRS PINKHAM —I cannot thank you enough for what your Vegetable Compound has done for me If it had not been for your medicine I think I would have died,

I will tell you how I suffered I [illegible] was weak [illegible] unable to sleep or eat Menstruation was irregular At last I had to stay in my bed and flowed so badly that they sent for a doctor who said I had inflammation of the ovaries and I must go through an operation as no medicine could help me But I could not do that

I received a little book of yours and after reading it I concluded to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am now a well woman I shall praise your medicine as long as I live and also recommend the same to any one suffering as I was"—MRS MINNIE OTTOSON Otho Iowa (Jan [illegible] 1901)

Follow the record of this medicine, and remember that these thousands of cures of women whose letters are constantly printed in this paper were not brought about by something else but by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the great Woman's Remedy for Woman's Ills

Those women who refuse to accept anything else are rewarded a hundred thousand times, for they get what they want —a cure Moral —Stick to the medicine that you know is Best Write to Mrs Pinkham for advice

INFLAMMATION OF THE OVARIES CURED WITHOUT THE KNIFE

"DEAR MRS PINKHAM —I wish to express my gratitude for the restored health and happiness Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought into my life

I had suffered for three years with terrible pains at the time of menstruation and did not know what the trouble was until the doctor pronounced it inflammation of the ovaries and proposed an operation

"I felt so weak and sick that I felt sure I could not survive the ordeal and so I told him that I would not undergo it The following week I read an advertisement in the paper of your Vegetable Compound in such an emergency and so I decided to try it Great was my joy to find that I actually improved after taking two bottles so I kept taking it for ten weeks, and at the end of that time I was cured I had gained eighteen pounds and was in excellent health and am now

You surely deserve great success and you have my very best wishes"—MISS ALICE BAILEY 50 North Boulevard Atlanta Ga Treasurer St Francis Benevolent Association

[illegible] CHILDREN ENJOY

Life out of doors and out of the games which they play and the enjoyment which they receive and the efforts which they make, comes the greater part of that healthful development which is so essential to their happiness when grown. When a laxative is needed the remedy which is given to them to cleanse and sweeten and strengthen the internal organs on which it acts, should be such as physicians would sanction, because its component parts are known to be wholesome and the remedy itself free from every objectionable quality. The one remedy which physicians and parents, well-informed, approve and recommend and which the little ones enjoy, because of its pleasant flavor, its gentle action and its beneficial effects, is—Syrup of Figs—and for the same reason it is the only laxative which should be used by fathers and mothers.

Syrup of Figs is the only remedy which acts gently, pleasantly and naturally without griping, irritating, or nauseating and which cleanses the system effectually, without producing that constipated habit which results from the use of the old-time cathartics and modern imitations, and against which the children should be so carefully guarded If you would have them grow to manhood and womanhood, strong, healthy and happy, do not give them medicines, when medicines are not needed, and when nature needs assistance in the way of a laxative, give them only the simple, pleasant and gentle—Syrup of Figs.

Its quality is due not only to the excellence of the combination of the laxative principles of plants with pleasant aromatic syrups and juices, but also to our original method of manufacture and as you value the health of the little ones, do not accept any of the substitutes which unscrupulous dealers sometimes offer to increase their profits. The genuine article may be bought anywhere of all reliable druggists at fifty cents per bottle. Please to remember, the full name of the Company—CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.—is printed on the front of every package. In order to get its beneficial effects it is always necessary to buy the genuine only

BRADSTREET'S REVIEW

By Associated Press.

New York, Jan. 16.—Bradstreet tomorrow will say:

With the much needed expansion in export trade now actively in evidence one of the important missing events of national prosperity has been supplied. Export trade in December proved to be better than anticipated and so far in January only encouraging elements have developed. The domestic situation also gains rather than loses in strength. While regular spring trade can hardly be said to have opened, activity is steadily increasing.

The strength of leading agricultural staples, notable wheat, corn and oats among the cereals, cotton among the textiles and hog products among provisions has been the feature of the price situation. Copper holds nearly all of the advance recently gained, despite the bearish statistical features. Eastern shoes shipments show slight gains from a year ago and manufacturers are quite busy, though complaints of the small margin of profits are still universal.

Wheat, including flour, exports for the week ending January 15, aggregate 4,858,624 bushels against 5,096,951 last week, and 4,500,202 in this week a year ago, and 3,826,054 in 1901.

Wheat exports since July aggregate 140,640,809 bushels against 158,004,139 last season and 107,210,966 in 1900.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending January 15 number 232 as against 336 last week, 291 in the same week in 1902.

The Pe-ru-na Almanac.

The druggists have already been supplied with Peruna almanacs. There is sure to be a great demand for these almanacs on account of the articles on astrology which they contain. The subject of astrology is a very attractive one to most people. The articles on astrology in the Peruna almanac have been furnished by a very competent astrologist, and the mental characteristics of each sign is given, constituting almost a complete horoscope. A list of questions and answers on astrology sent free upon request. There will be a great rush for these books. Ask your druggist for one early before they are all gone.

DUN & CO.'S REVIEW

By Associated Press.

New York, Jan. 16.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade tomorrow will say:

Fuel shortage is still the one seriously disturbing element in the coal situation. Transporting facilities have been diverted from other merchandise to the disadvantage of shippers, yet iron furnaces are unable to secure sufficient supplies of coke, and many other manufacturing plants are closed because of inadequate coal deliveries. Mines are more fully operated, but there is no prospect of normal conditions until spring. Extremely low temperatures during the past week stimulated the distribution of heavy clothing and other seasonable goods. Retail trade was accelerated by the customary clearance sales, especially in dry goods and kindred branches. Traveling men are sending in large orders for spring goods, the volume of advance business surpassing the customary amount for this time of the year.

Quiet conditions in the iron and steel markets do not mean dullness or diminishing consumption, but merely the oversold condition of furnaces and mills, together with great uncertainty about keeping plants active on a day to day supply of fuel. Inquiries are numerous, especially in structural lines, but makers are not ready to accept bids until the future appears more definite. New plans constantly come forward for large office buildings, notably at the west, which means vigorous consumption of structural steel, and the demands from car builders are phenomenal. Practically the entire capacity of the leading plants is already booked for six months, and at many concerns the last half of the year will bring no idleness unless orders are canceled. Eastern manufacturers of footwear are fully employed on spring shoes, but new orders are light for later delivery, although western jobbers purchase freely of fall samples. Quiet conditions in leather have been succeeded by an increased demand for hemlock sole and standard upper, shoe manufacturers placing liberal orders. Last week's slight recovery in the hide market was not sustained. Dry goods trading has increased in volume, buyers arriving in greater numbers, and the prospect favors still more activity in the latter half of the month. In woolen goods the opening of piece dyes was made at an advance but not as much as some sellers anticipated. Only moderate fluctuations have occurred in the great staples with the tendency upward and a conspicuously firm tone in evidence. Higher prices have been charged for refined sugar, and raw grades are firm, but weakness is the feature in coffee, owing to excessive supplies at all points.

Failures for the week numbered 287 in the United States, against 334 last year, and 28 in Canada, compared with 40 a year ago.

Amusements

ANDREW ROBSON IN "RICHARD CARVEL."

It is claimed in behalf of Andrew Robson, who appears at the Opera house on next Thursday evening as "Richard Carvel" that he presents in each city he visits the entire scenic production, without change or elimination, that aided so materially in establishing the play as a success during the 17 weeks' run that was accorded it at the Empire theater in New York; that each of the 32 parts concerned in the development of the story is interpreted by a skilled actor or actress especially adapted to portray it, and that unlike many modern stars, who seem to monopolize the center of the stage, Mr. Robson appreciates the praise bestowed upon the members of his company for successful and meritorious work performed by them quite as fully as he does commendation for his own efforts. The popularity of Winston Churchill's novel should serve to attract a large audience to witness the play and if the claims of the Robson management are made good by the performance, as seems to have been the case universally elsewhere, the play should be as firmly established in popular favor as the book.

JEFFRIES AND FITZSIMMONS.

The champions, Jeffries and Fitzsimmons, are on a trip through the west, giving exhibitions, assisted by other well-known sports. They will appear at the Opera house on next Wednesday evening. Among the preliminary boys are Rube Smith, Buddy King and Billy Armstrong of Spokane.

"A LITTLE OUTCAST" TONIGHT.

"A Little Outcast," which will be presented at the Opera house this evening, is a radical departure from the old style melodrama. Many novel characters are introduced and a wealth of scenery is carried by the company to properly stage the production. The play is the plain story of a man and his faults, and moves from scenes of fashionable life in uptown mansions to the life of "the under world," down in the haunts of evil and crime. Paul Weston is a young man in the employ of a wealthy broker, Mr. Harcourt. Incidentally he is also the secretly wedded husband of Mr. Harcourt's pretty daughter Madeline. Back in the years before circumstances brought him to the rich broker's notice, Weston had served a term in prison for another man's crime, but, knowing the indelible brand such a thing leaves on a man's record, he had never mentioned it to anyone, and with a determination to make a new name for himself, had striven manfully upward, until at the opening of the play he was about to be accepted as a junior partner in the firm.

His nemesis, however, is close upon him, and he is recognized by a former cell mate. To buy his silence Weston compromises himself by taking money from the safe, intending to replace it immediately. His detection by the disappointed nephew of the broker who has hoped to be both partner and son-in-law, leads Weston into terrible trouble and misery. Deserted by all but the faithful newsboy, "Bob," and mourned by his wife as dead, he sinks to the lowest depths of degradation, until by a divine providence he is shown the error of his ways and works out his own redemption.

His final victory over self and over his enemies and the restoration of his wife and his fortune make the strongest drama of human emotions ever staged, fascinating in interest, intense in realism and superb in dramatic power.

EUGENE LOCKHART OF THE KILTIES.

The 9-year-old lad, Eugene Lockhart, who is acknowledged as the best of all Scottish boy dancers, and belongs to the Kilties Band corps of Highland dancers and pipers, on its present tour, adds a delightful and clever feature to the organization's entertainment. He is not alone a Highland dancer, but excels in Irish character dancing as well. The Countess of Aberdeen, one of Eugene's warmest admirers, wrote him as follows from Government house: "The Countess of Aberdeen begs to state with how much pleasure she witnessed the dancing of the smart little Highland laddie, Eugene Lockhart, on the occasion of the Hospital fair at London. Lady Aberdeen begs to offer best wishes for his success in whatever career he may adopt.—(Isabel) Aberdeen."

While on tour with Canada's famous band, The Kilties, "Gene" has received many gifts from admirers, including a diamond ring from a New Haven lady, a substantial gift of money from a Pittsburg millionaire, and many floral tributes. His appearance at Temple theater on January 27, with the band, will be especially interesting to the ladies and children.

COLORADO PARTY PROBABLY NOT ON STEAMER ST. LOUIS

Some apprehension has been felt for the safety of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. MacNeil, Judge K. R. Babbitt and Spencer Penrose of this city and John C. Montgomery of Denver, it being the belief that they had sailed on the overdue liner St. Louis. However, Mrs. Babbitt had a cablegram from her husband a week ago stating that he expected to sail on the Savoy, a French liner, on the following day, January 10. It is believed that the other members of the party are on the same boat, which is due today at New York. Mrs. Montgomery stated that her husband also sailed on the St. Louis but as he was a member of the party it is probable that he altered his plan. The party went to close a deal for the purchase by a French syndicate of the property of the United States Reduction and Refining company's holdings in this state.

The Need of Men.

Our home life needs the more active relation of men. The imperialistic notions of the day revive the worship of masculine qualities, but not the right kind. It is not ancient ideals of physical force or military strength or strategy that are needed, but the manhood that stands for balanced judgment, the suppression of brute instincts by an enlightened will and conscience. Women are not too active in the creation of new social ideals, but men are not active enough. The Sunday congregation, the study class, the social gathering suffer from the wilful and determined absence of men, their indifference and refusal to cooperate in much of the work that tends to refine and elevate the standards of living. Those whom God meant to join together, "yoked in all exercise of noble end," too often walk separately and apart, sundered by a sordid devotion to material objects on the man's part, a growing independence on the woman's; which is not always the independence that contributes most to her happiness or usefulness.—(Celia P. Woolley, in the Pilgrim for January.
